

SYNOPSIS

Califias Island of Gold - A Journey to the Other California

Califias Goldinsel - Streifzüge durch das andere Kalifornien

This documentary presents a sweeping view of Baja California, the world's third largest peninsula, and a relatively unknown part of Mexico. European classical music, American literature and the hard labor of the film's protagonists are used to portray the social development of a people caught between two continents. The entire production, from conception to shooting and editing, was done by the two filmmakers and the cameraman even played violin with the Viennese Chamber Orchestra during the music recordings.
