

SYNOPSIS

Silent Valley - Nature Trails to Lake Hubertus

Das stille Tal - Naturpfade zum Hubertussee

Close to the border between Lower Austria and Styria is a region that is among the most peaceful and unspoiled landscapes there are: the nature reserve along the Walstern, which is home to extensive hunting and fishing grounds. Like an amethyst, Lake Hubertus sparkles out from a sea of trees between Annaberg, Ulreichsberg, St. Aegydt and Mariazell. Today, the perpetually clear mountain lake, where Kaiser Franz Josef once hunted, is a paradise for water birds and fish. Visually stunning pictures of animal life and unspoiled nature illustrate a journey through and examination of every season in this peaceful valley.
