

SYNOPSIS

Jesus in Tarragona

Jesus in Tarragona

This documentary shows how the citizens of Tarragona cultivate a 450-year old tradition; how the precious, heavy wood and stone sculptures called "pasos" representing Christ's Passion are carried through the town - an honour passed from father to son. Women have only been admitted to the procession for a few years. Today participants number more than 2000, with several thousands of spectators. There are 19 "pasos" belonging to the fraternities (a total of 11), whose origins date back to the old medieval guilds. Ever since then, they have joined forces to celebrate the Good Friday processions in their ancient tradition.
