

SYNOPSIS

Christmas in Vienna 2005

Christmas in Vienna 2005

Artistically speaking, "Christmas in Vienna" is a top-notch traditional Christmas concert intended as a purely classical platform for celebrating the holidays. In addition, this event provides a glimpse of some of Vienna's historic sites, including the Stephansdom cathedral or the Figaro House, while telling very touching Yule-tide tales involving prominent personalities. The participation of baritone Thomas Hampson, one of the finest singers in the contemporary music scene, guarantees the highest level of artistic quality. He is joined by sopranos Ildikó Raimondi and Federica von Stade, making up a cast to ensure a truly memorable event.

Traditional compositions:

Es hat sich halt eröffnet; Maria durch ein Dornwald ging; A Spotless Rose Is Growing; Heissa Buama stehts g'schwind auf; Engel auf den Feldern singen; Andachtsjodler

In a wonderfully Christmassy musical program!
