Karajan - Don Carlos

Karajan - Don Carlos

A recording from the Easter Festival, Salzburg 1986

What once was said of the Troubadour applies for Verdi's Don Carlos: All you need is the four world best singers and then this opera is no problem: the wonderful Agnes Baltsa in the title role of Eboli and Karajan's favorite tenor José Carreras; the singer of Elisabeta, Fiamma Izzo d'Amico, who impassioned with her voice in tender lyric - just like a young Freni - and represented the ideal contrast to the singer of King Philip. Furlanetto is today's leading international bass-baritone and continues the tradition of Cesare Siepi and Nicolai Ghiaurov as his predecessors.
