

SYNOPSIS

The House of the Future

Das Haus der Zukunft

Based on adventuresome accounts of the pilot projects, this documentary shows the construction of three low-energy «passive houses» and explains the principle underlying these energy saving buildings by explaining the new technologies involved. Like no other scientific subject of the past few years, the energy efficiency of buildings has made enormous progress and attracts the interest of researchers, architects and consumers alike - not least because of the constant rises in fuel oil and gas prices.

Year: 2005

Run-Time: 1 x 44 min.

Directed by Claudia Hefner and Peter Gizcy

A co-production of ORF/3sat, BR alpha and Gizcy film production

Languages: German (ORIGINAL)

Format: 16:9 , 16:9

» SCREEN ONLINE