

SYNOPSIS

Feels Like Home?

Nicht unser Staat (Wir sind anders)

All over Europe, independence movements are dominating the headlines. Especially Scotland, South Tyrol and Catalonia are well-known for their ideas of a separation in contrast to the mind of a united Europe. In September 2014 Scotland faces a future decisive vote after which it either receives the status as an independent country or will still be part of the United Kingdom. The same thoughts are shared in Catalonia, where over one Million people went on the streets of Barcelona to speak out their opinion. This documentary follows three peaceful activists with the same goal: independence and a new identity.
