

SYNOPSIS

Mobility and Innovation from Austria

Mobilität und Innovation aus Österreich

In a modern society, mobility is a complex and multidimensional phenomenon. Influenced by occupational requirements, leisure activities, urban planning, and social shifts, "being mobile" is subject to constant change. Austria's answers to our altered mobility behavior are impressive: Whether rails for China, urban cable cars for La Paz, biogas tractors for the third world, or designs for high-speed trains, know-how "Made in Austria" is in demand worldwide. With research and industry experts, the documentary discusses the question of where our journey will take us in the near and distant future.
