

SYNOPSIS

Village Without Mothers

Dorf ohne Mütter

During the day she worked for "upper class" Viennese women, doing their housework for five to seven Euro an hour, and at night she hid in a small apartment together with three other women. An ORF camera team accompanied the young mother on her 1,800 kilometers journey home by bus across three borders only to discover an entire «village without mothers». They have all left to work in Western Europe in order to feed their families, leaving their children and husbands behind. What will Ilona find when she arrives back home?
