Fair Enough!

Alles, was gerecht ist

People all around the world claim it, but what is justice really all about? Some well-known facts: There is an increase in inequality, the income gap raises and the distribution of wealth is developing dramatically. The story of three families illustrates the status quo about the distribution of opportunities, performance justice, wealth, health and happiness in our society. This documentary shows how scientists, academics and theologians try to define what justice really stands for and presents people that seem to make life a bit juster.
